border he will chase it out with our Prussian Grenadier regiments," he asserted.

RAPS AMERICAN PRESS

Goebbels also took a flint at the American press which he accused of persecuting Jews. They should be allowed to persecute the Jews, he said, but not to persecute the Jews.

national heroes do not have to flee from their own country.

The passionate two-hour speech, delivered in Deutschland Hall, also included a scathing attack on the German people who worry about the fate of the Jews.

The speaker urged them to make raw materials for their rearmament program.

"If the Fatherland should be attacked, we cannot think of anything but the enemy," continued Goebbels. "We have got to have arms."

SACRIFICES HEAVY

The sacrifices demanded by the German people at this time are heavy, he said, because we are making up for what others neglected for 15 years.

Germany formerly imported 2,000,000,000 marks in raw materials annually, the propaganda minister declared, but now imports only 1,000,000,000 marks.

He said that Germany now exports 1,000,000,000 marks for raw materials and armaments.

GOV. DEFENDS HIS REPRIEVE OF HAUPTMANN

condemned man was ever in the Lindbergh nursery.

Only a few hours before Hauptmann would have walked the aisle from his death cell to the electric chair but for the 30-day reprieve the governor struck back sharply at critics of his mysterious activities in the case.

PROSECUTION IS CRITIC

One of these critics was the chief Hamilton prosecutor himself, A. J. General Wilentz.

In a cablegram to Dr. John F. Condon, former intermediary in Hauptmann's case, Wilentz said the government was not wanted here for questioning the governor's reprieve was regretted by him.

This cablegram answered one from Condon containing an offer to return voluntarily in view of the governor's recent expression of a desire to have him examined further.

"I repeat the course taken by the governor," Wilentz told Condon, "only because it may be construed as a reflection upon the state, the state witnesses the police officers of the several states and of the nation, who participated in gathering and presenting the evidence."

ASSIGNED NO REASON

"The governor has assigned no reason for granting the reprieve. No new evidence has been called to my attention by the governor to the defense counsel."

At the same time, the governor has been asked to explain the reasons between his prosecutor and the man who has interested himself in his behalf, Hauptmann, was not making for his last day of life.

He said that he had received a letter from his wife, who was a spiritual adviser, Rev. John A. Tien.

He said Hauptmann was smiling happily when he came out, in fact, that he was smiling with a growing belief in her power, and that he would not be put to death in the electric chair.

COLUSA, Calif., Jan. 18.—Approximately 500 people were trapped in their homes last night as the Sacramento river flooded the city. The water was reported by weary crews of relief workers.

Only boats could reach Butte City and the immediate area, where people were trapped in their homes by from three to five feet of water. They were being rescued by boats.

Most of the land inundated was poor, but considerable crop and orchard acreage was included.

16,847 Transients Taken From Trains In Saskatchewan

REGINA, Jan. 18.—Transients to the number of 16,847 were taken from trains or warned about riding trains by Royal Canadian Mounted Police during 1935, in Saskatchewan.

This bit of information was given to the riot inquiry Friday afternoon by Mr. C. E. Wood, assistant commissioner of the R.C.M.P., in Regina.

He said that there were only 700 transients of railway transients.

The policy of the provincial government in regard to this matter was to have the police remove the transients from the trains.

The problem was increasing in severity, he said, because of the federal government had to provide for the transients in the province to deal with it.

DEBATERS OF U. OF S. WIN M'GOUN PRIZE

Score Two Victories, One to the Team of Alberta

Score two victories and obtaining awards of five of six judges, University of Saskatchewan debaters last night were heralded as winners of the McGoun trophy, emblematic of inter-university debating in the four western provinces.

WON BOTH CONTESTS
Saskatchewan debaters won both their contests at home, over the University of Alberta, by a 2-1 decision of three judges, while their representatives took a unanimous decision of three judges over University of Manitoba students at Winnipeg.

Debates were held on the resolution: "Resolved that the policy of Canada should be one of isolation." In each instance the visiting team took the negative and the home team the affirmative. The debates were held at Vancouver, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Winnipeg.

ALBERTA SECOND
On a point basis of award of judges, Saskatoon topped the list with five points, Alberta three, with three points and Manitoba and British Columbia tied with two points each.

Alberta Wins Over U.B.C.
The University of Alberta debating team composed of Harold Beveridge and Leonard Macdonald were victorious over the University of British Columbia as represented by Alvin Roush and John Conway, in upholding the resolution that Canada should pursue a foreign policy of isolation. In the inter-varsity debate last night in Vancouver hall.

Alberta's visiting team from Saskatchewan was composed of Victor Chisholm and Hugh John Macdonald.

The question according to the debaters in Vancouver hall centered about the issue of the best means of securing Canada's continued peace and freedom from commitments in foreign entanglements.

QUIT LEAGUE
The Alberta team, which took the side of the affirmative, contested that this could be best accomplished by complete withdrawal from the League of Nations and the British Empire in so far as both their efforts were concerned in the preservation of world peace. Beveridge, leader of the affirmative pointed out that Canada, despite its self possession, peace freedom and security, and that the should not harbor those for the doubtful privilege of being a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations. He protested that Canada's security with the security of the United States and that Canada's reliance should be with United States, whose policy is also isolationist.

Mr. Beveridge, in supporting the stand taken by Mr. Beveridge, brought to the argument a ready flow of wit, and proceeded, as he phrased it, to shatter a lot of false ideas concerning Canada's relationship with both the League of Nations and the British Empire.

PSYCHOLOGICAL TIES
In proposing the negative side of the case Mr. Roush and Mr. Conway of British Columbia brought forth the considerations of sentiment and of the psychological which bind Canada to the Motherland, and which would force upon Canada to support the Mother country in her hour of need. The British Empire, they pointed out, is more than a mere collection of islands which have been growing through the centuries and it is one effective instrument in the world today for peace.

They claimed that in cutting it self free of the homeland Canada would lose the most of its life and far from securing the protection of United States would lay itself open to aggression on all sides.

All speakers regarded the subject under consideration with great interest and the only levity of the evening was provided by Mr. Beveridge, whose caustic comments were small items in gaining for the Alberta team the favor of the judges.

NEWSMEN ARE WELCOMED BY MAYOR CLARKE

"Let Freedom Ring" Key-note of Weekly Publishers' Convention

"Let Freedom Ring" was the keynote when members of the Alberta Division Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, having disposed of some very important "preliminary" business, got down to business at the first regular meeting of the annual convention Friday afternoon.

"Freedom of the press" was on every tongue as speakers H. H. Bishop, Mayor Joseph Clarke, K.C., Elmer E. Rogers of the Canadian Labor party, and George H. Van Allen, K.C., M.L.A., all touched upon the subject of freedom of speech and press.

TRAIL OF '51
Mayor Clarke in extending the welcome of the city to the weekly newspapermen, said that his experiences on the Trail of '51 when for nine months he was editor and publisher of the Dawson Daily News.

"Since then," laughed Mayor Clarke, "I have been an ardent reader of the public prints and a red hot fan of the letters to the editor column."

Elmer E. Rogers, Canadian Labor party executive, urged that the weekly publishers maintain their vigor and independence and continue their drive upward and upward to social betterment. Mr. Rogers contended that for fairness towards all political faiths, the weekly publications should be happy tools.

While George H. Van Allen, K.C., M.L.A., featured speaker of the convention, said that through his carefully prepared notes, O. Leigh, editor of the Dawson Daily News, spoke on the convention floor, taking "National Advertising" as his subject.

LAW OF LIBEL
"Libel and Slander" formed Mr. Van Allen's subject and he opened his address with the statement that the law of libel is the general body of law which includes what we know as freedom of the press.

"The expression 'freedom of the press' is a branch of the law which is not to be found in the Canadian constitution," said Mr. Van Allen. "It is embedded in the English common law, which is in force in the Province of Alberta as it stood on July 15, 1870."

The expression of the right of newspapers to publish the proceedings of the courts is a part of modern history. Both the common law and the statute of statute, a full, fair and impartial report of judicial proceedings is a qualified privilege, although the reports contain matter that would otherwise be defamatory and cautionable, whether the concern is civil or criminal.

PUBLISHED FACTS
"Also as a general rule, it is privileged to publish the facts of a legislative and legislative proceedings," said Mr. Van Allen. "The reports of the committee of parliament or of the legislature, providing these reports are substantially accurate, and the comments are in good faith and without malice."

The main states in newspaper libel actions were explained by the speaker as: A fair comment; and B. qualified privilege.

It is only when the writer goes beyond the limits of fair comment that his criticism passes into the realm of libel," said Mr. Van Allen.

Elaborating on the "qualified privilege" Mr. Van Allen said: "The principle is, that it is in the public interest that persons should be allowed to speak freely on occasions when it is their duty to speak and to tell all that they know or believe. It is only when this privilege is abused by knowingly making false statements, that the privilege is lost."

INROAD ON FREEDOM
Explaining the difference made in a newspaper's liability to an action by the amending in 1925 of the 1912 libel and slander act, Mr. Van Allen continued: "The legislation which in my administration a major went further. It passed an act, based on the law of the province."

The speaker referred to the judicial proceedings act which absolutely prohibits the publication of any reports concerning a matrimonial suit beyond a few very limited regulations.

"My anticipation is," said Mr. Van Allen, "that in the near future the passing of these two acts will be regretted and that there will be strong movement for their repeal."

In short graphic sentences, Mr. Van Allen concluded, d. v. ing home his points with the force of irresistible logic.

PUBLIC RECORDS
"As I have pointed out in the beginning, the report of public records is always privileged. The files of the courts are public records. Any member of the public may go to the court house and search those records. Few people have the time to do this. Here is where the press served the public."

As the law now stands, all the world may search the records but nobody may tell the world what there is to be seen.

This in my opinion, is a violation of the freedom of the press. The applause given Mr. Van Allen was terrific and for close to an hour he was kept busy answering technical questions that interested publishers asked. The afternoon session of the convention closed shortly before 5 p.m. and publishers hurried off the floor and to their hotel rooms to prepare for their evening banquet.

QUEBEC LIKELY TO BE UTOPIA FOR MOTORISTS

MONTREAL, Jan. 18.—Quebec may become a Utopia for the conscientious car driver—unless, of course, the lady gets her signals crossed.

Right now, that's the big problem confronting the committee of chiefs of police of the Quebec safety league. They think there are too many people getting their signals crossed and it's not confined to the women drivers.

What the province of Quebec needs, the chiefs decided, is a new code for hand-waves, whistles and signals so they will convey the same meaning to everyone. A subcommittee was appointed to prepare the code.

PLAN HORSE SALE
RED DEER, Jan. 18.—A horse sale will be held at Red Deer on Monday, March 9, according to announcement made. The event will be held at the exhibition grounds. John Blanchard will sell and Scott Hattie will be secretary of the sale.

Better prices are expected and all farmers who have horses to sell are urged to get them in condition.

Approximately 4,000,000 American farms are located on unimproved lands.

MAN ON RELIEF POSSESSOR OF WHAT HE BELIEVES IS RARE STRADIVARI VIOLIN

At least one man in Edmonton is happy today. On relief, he walks the streets buoyed up by the fond hope that he perhaps owns a violin modeled by that master craftsman of all fiddle-makers—Antonio Stradivari—who plied his craft at Cremona, Italy, and who is said to have brought his art to the highest point of perfection before he died in 1737.

WORTH $100,000
Proof positive of what he believes to be a violin by Stradivari is Henry Jorgensen, unemployed, of 1004 88 street, who came to this country from Denmark 20 years ago. The sixty-five-year-old man estimates the instrument to be worth at least $100,000 if it is genuine. "Ah, there's the rub!"

Jorgensen brought his treasure into the editorial rooms of The Bulletin, clutched tightly under his arm in a well-worn case.

Here's his story: The violin was formerly owned by an Italian shoemaker here, and is said to have been in the shoemaker's family for several generations. Jorgensen himself fixes the age of the fiddle at 200 years, and that it finally came into his hands when he offered to repair it and gave the Italian several articles in exchange. In other words, it was a sort of "swap" proposition.

LACKED FINE LINES
Two musically-inclined newspapermen, who have some knowledge of violins, gave it as their

M'GEER AGAIN ASKS FEDERAL POLICE FORCE

Expresses Surprise at Reported Remarks of Ontario Attorney

VANCOUVER, Jan. 18.—Creation of a federal police organization was held up again Friday by Mayor M'Geer of Vancouver in a statement in which he expressed surprise at reported remarks of Attorney General.

An Ottawa dispatch, saying there was a similar proposal Thursday by M'Geer, reported that the Ontario attorney general had no lack of confidence in the provincial and municipal police, and further that he had no desire to see his police controlled from dominion sources.

"I am rather surprised," said M'Geer, "that the attorney general of Ontario could take the attitude described in press dispatches from the east with regard to the necessity for leadership on the part of the national attorney general and the national police organization, with closer co-operation from police units of all the provinces in the matter of crime prevention, and all crime prosecution in Canada."

The mayor did not think conditions in Toronto during the last 10 years bore out any attitude "that everything was all right under the present system."

Mr. Jorgensen was told this was by no means proof that the instrument was a Stradivari. Thousands of violins made long after Stradivari passed out of the picture bear an inscription

"That look—the name. There, see?" objected Mr. Jorgensen, pointing to a square of paper pasted to the inside of the violin and which bore the Latin inscription in machine-set type: "Antonio Stradivari Cremonensis Anno 1737," here the printing was blurred, but it appeared as if the pentachord figure "17" had been marked in after the "17."

Still dubious about the newspaperman's opinion, Mr. Jorgensen left the office with the announced intention of getting the advice of an outstanding violinist in the city. The Dane, who has been on relief here for five years, may own a Stradivari. But it's a million-to-one chance.

HAS GOOD TONE
The violin has a good tone and is colored in orange shades to resemble the finish made famous by the shoe-maker of Cremona, whose secret method of preparing the varnish for his instruments went with him to the grave.

A GOOD MOVE
Elaborating on the "qualified privilege" Mr. Van Allen said: "The principle is, that it is in the public interest that persons should be allowed to speak freely on occasions when it is their duty to speak and to tell all that they know or believe. It is only when this privilege is abused by knowingly making false statements, that the privilege is lost."

The National Bicycle Ride

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

When riding a bicycle the rider has to keep going, or get off purposefully, or fall off. Only in progress is there accomplishment and safety. This is also a true picture of the life of a nation.

Any policy which seeks to make the progress of national life subject to special privilege stops the bicycle. That is what happened in Canada in 1930; and the nation was brought to such a condition that the president of a great transportation company declared that the Canadian nation must get an increase of commerce in order to survive.

An increase of commerce will prevent a national collapse, and will restore conditions as they existed before special privilege got into the saddle. This will get our present population back into work and business again; but through the years Canada has constructed railways, established public utilities and created several varieties of public debt which call for the presence and effort and accomplishment of not less than thirty million people.

In order to get these thirty million people into action, the first thing to be done is to get going on works of national development which will provide opportunities for young Canadians and keep them gainfully employed in Canada. For young Canadians the alternative opposite opportunity to succeed in life in Canada is migration. In the same seventy years of Canadian confederation, had the necessity been effected of giving young Canadians the first places in national policies and in individual opportunity Canada would have had the thirty millions of people of the United States. It is true that every state in the United States has had great increase of life and power due to the migration of young Canadians looking for the opportunities denied them at home.

This is the vital function which Parliament must do before everything else, and it is never mentioned much less considered by Parliaments.

Progress along any line which will afford opportunity to four or five million young Canadians will balance all the budgets in Canada. Nothing else will do it. Allowing young Canadians to drift out of Canada because of national progress are disastrous to holders of dollars and special privilege to collect dollars, certainly amounts to draining the lifeblood of the nation.

Before worrying about budgets and bonds, and interest rates, it will be well for the government to see to it that the national development can be commenced this year and carried to the earliest possible completion so as to keep young Canadians in Canada, because should young Canadians continue to leave Canada—note of the other things are worth worrying about.

Canada's great undeveloped northern empire offers the greatest national opportunity in the world today.

The human nose is capable of detecting more than 6,000 different odors.

Jesus Prepares For His Work

Illustrated Sunday School Lesson

Scripture—Luke 3:1-13

By the Rev. A. E. Bell and Alfred J. Buechner

The way of Jesus' ministry was prepared by John the Baptist. He preached boldly to great multitudes in the wilderness, urging them to repent of sin and live holy lives. He even denounced King Herod for his crime.

After a time, John came to John to be baptized, not because he needed to repent, but to identify himself with sinners and to be baptized and inaugurated into the Messiah and Saviour of sinners.

After his baptism John led Jesus into the wilderness to be tested by the evil one. Jesus was hungry and Satan tempted Him to change stones into bread to prove He was God's son.

John yielded to none of these temptations. He refused Satan's plan of making himself king with the most money way. So Jesus was tempted as we are, but without sin.

Of Knox United Church, Mr. McDonald spoke of Christianity as a quickening, contagious and constructive force. It was a quickening, fitting message to a congregation entering upon another year of activity.

Miss Edna Southern made a fine contribution to the program by a very timely rendered solo.

At his lecture, Mrs. A. McLeod, Lady, Adm. presented the pastor's wife with a beautiful bouquet of flowers, together with the most expressive high appreciation of the pastor and Mrs. McDonald.

The interesting closing of the service consisted of the singing of hymns of devotion and the reading of the Scriptures. This was brought to a close by the singing of the hymn "The Church of the Living God" by the choir.

The religious of all faiths in the fourth year of his ministry in this church. He continues his work among the people with the most hearty assurance of the confidence and co-operation of his entire congregation.

REV. A. OSBORN PLANS SERMONS

Rev. Andrew R. Osborn will occupy the pulpit at First Presbyterian church on Sunday, choosing as his morning theme, "Leadership and the Kingdom of God" and as his evening subject, "Man's Unrealized Powers" being one of a series on the general subject of "Man, the Unknown."

The children's address will be on the subject of "The Story of John Williams" and will be given at the morning service.

Mrs. A. Macintosh will be the soloist at the morning service.

Special music will be provided at both services by the choir and organist and chorister, Carman H. Milligan.

The regular church will meet at 3 p.m. on Sunday when Rev. F. D. Housharg will speak on "Presbyterianism and What it Should Be."

Church Meeting Is Planned Here

The annual meeting of the United Church of Canada will be held from Jan. 15 to 18 in this city. It was announced on Saturday.

Rev. R. B. Layton, Laconia, president of the conference, Rev. T. E. McLeod, secretary, and Rev. Dr. Thomas Powell, superintendent of the conference, will be among the speakers. The meeting will be held at the University Hotel, and will be a most interesting and profitable one.

A special service will be conducted by Albert Tully followed by a social hour. The meeting will be held at the University Hotel, and will be a most interesting and profitable one.

SCONA BAPTIST CHURCH MEETS

The annual business meeting of the Scona Baptist church was held in the social hall of the church on Jan. 13 with the pastor, Rev. T. E. McLeod, presiding. In spite of the extremely cold weather a good number were present.

A hearty song service was conducted by Albert Tully followed by a social hour. The meeting will be held at the University Hotel, and will be a most interesting and profitable one.

Seven Hundred A Milestone on the Bible Society's March

With the printing of the 700th issue of the Bible Society's "The Bible in English" the Bible Society has reached a milestone in its history. The 700th issue is a testament to the Society's long and successful work in distributing Bibles and Bible literature.

The Society's work has been a continuous one, and it is a testament to the Society's long and successful work in distributing Bibles and Bible literature.

BIBLE COURSE PLAN COMPLETED

Simple rules for interpreting the Bible will be outlined in a course of studies on "Principles of Bible Interpretation," to be given by Rev. A. S. Taylor, D.D., principal of St. Stephen's college, commencing next Tuesday, in the lecture room of McDougall church.

The course will be illustrated by reference to various parts of the Bible covering questions of science, history, prophecy and revelation.

All Sunday school teachers and Bible students are invited to attend these lectures, which should be of great benefit to them.

STORK MAKES FEWER TRIPS TO TORONTO

City's Birth Rate Slips Below Even 1934's All-Time Low

TORONTO, Jan. 18.—In spite of the incentive offered by the Millar will baby rate, to the winner of which goes more than $800,000 next October, and notwithstanding the inspiration of the dimpled Dionne quintuplets, baby-making in Toronto in 1935 received fewer visits per 1,000 of population. For 1935 the rate was 15.9 a 1,000.

Your Children - By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

The adult skeptic learns to his sorrow that his lowered resistance is doubly ready to pick up another case, and

With his led or skates and makes up for lost time.

Who suspects that eye muscles and nerves are weak? Or that heart muscles are tired? Or that foot muscles are flabby?

In later years he will remark, in all perplexity, the specialist looking off his nose or his heart, in

"Stay there for a few more days," he means exactly what he says. The child may feel all right, but his fever may be gone, so he wants to get up and about. "Please, Mother, can I put my bath robe on and go downstairs?"

Perhaps it is warm down there and perhaps not. Who notices the draught under the living room door that teases bare ankles? Who sees him slip to the door and call out, "Grandpa?"

When vitality is low and spirits too high—

"Why didn't mother watch me then?" sighs the sufferer.

Mother is always too kind.

Later his mother cannot imagine where he got another spell of grippe. Not the same kind, mind you, but something that isn't even a collateral cousin of the first that laid him low.

This time he stays sick longer, in all probability, because he has already used up much of his "resistance" on the first attack. Now he has to defend himself with what is left.

There is, furthermore, another reason why children should be

New floors, built-in cabinets for the kitchen, bookcases for the living room, or a new room in the attic or basement.

OUR OLD COUNTRY LETTER—By J. Edward Norcross

EDMONTON, Eng. — (By Mail).—Last year the forty-dollar a week man in this country paid rather more than $100 into the national exchequer as income tax.

This year, if he has a wife and three children, he will pay nothing. He is back to where he was four years ago when, not being assessed for income tax, he did not pay very much, whether the standard rate was 30 per cent. as in 1918-19 to 1921-22, 35 per cent. as in 1922-23, or a mere 25 per cent. as in 1923-24.

What did trouble him was that when Great Britain decided to tax itself into national solvency in 1931, the government not only put the rate back to 25 per cent. but also cut out the reduction of 500 each for his children formerly allowed when calculating his taxable income. It was this that brought him into the select company of persons paying income tax.

Compared with 1918-19 it was no great boon when a reduction of the standard rate from five shillings to four shillings and sixpence for 1924 brought his contribution down to £70.25.

It may be well to explain here the British method of assessing income tax. To begin with, if one earns one's income, that is if one does not obtain it by clipping coupons, drawing dividends, collecting rents or anything of that sort, one-third of it is written off for taxation purposes. This applies whether one is a $50,000 general practitioner or a $1,000 clerk.

After that another 50c is eliminated if one is a single person and a larger sum if one is married man. Subject to certain other permitted reductions the balance is the taxable income.

Two years ago the Chancellor of the Exchequer, as stated, cut down the standard rate of income tax by sixpence. The benefit to the class with small incomes was not, however, as great as it appeared, for on the first $875 of taxable income only half the standard rate was charged. Thus a man earning $1,500 a year and paying $400 would be only four dollars better off. On large incomes, however, the gain might amount to thousands of dollars.

As might have been expected, Mr. Chamberlain's political opponents lost no time in pointing this out in an last April he brought down poor man's budget, the income-tax schedules of which have now become effective.

To begin with he raised the allowance for married men from $750 to $850. Then he reduced the family allowance of $250 per child to $200. He also cut down the allowance for dependents from $100 to $75.

The wealthier income-tax payers get their last year. This time it is the men earning wages, or wages called salaries by courtesy, that are the recipients of the Chancellor's New Year's gift.

I MUST not be imagined, however, that the hundreds of thousands of wage-earners who are now exempt from payment of income tax escape taxation altogether and that the wealthier classes in Great Britain pay practically all the running expenses of the country.

If direct taxation presses hard on the rich, indirect taxation is a more subtle but no less effective means of raising money for the state. It is this that the Chancellor of the Exchequer has been doing for the last year. This time it is the men earning wages, or wages called salaries by courtesy, that are the recipients of the Chancellor's New Year's gift.

For the historian the last session of the parliament that was dissolved two or three months ago will probably stand out in respect of its monumental labors in passing the India bill and conferring limited but nevertheless real rights of self-government on India.

A great deal of other useful work was done, however, a number of measures then put on the statute-book being operative at the beginning of this month by which millions of people in this country will be affected.

Mention has already been made of the changes in income tax. Another act for the benefit of a class of persons the means of most of whom are too small for them to be affected by the beneficence of the Chancellor of the Exchequer provides that unemployed persons who, under the Health Insurance Act, would normally be entitled to sickness and disablement benefits, are not to lose them through unemployment. In particular they are to be protected as regards their pension rights.

All persons who are insured for unemployment are also insured under the Health Insurance Act, the contributions being distinct. They have been automatically increased with entry on the New Year. Men now pay twenty instead of sixteen cents a week and women fourteen cents instead of twelve. Equal sums are paid on behalf of insured persons by their employers. Part of the total amount is for health insurance and part for old-age pension insurance. Old-age pensions under this scheme, $2.50 a week, are payable when the recipient reaches the age of 65 without reference to any other means or earnings he may enjoy.

being that in which imprisonment for debt ceased to be the disgrace of British administration of justice. The new statute is one of which Lord Bessell and Lord Arnold, two labor peers, may well be proud. It means that nobody who cannot pay what he owes, whether it be an ordinary debt or one created by court order, such as a fine or sum for life maintenance, shall be imprisoned for sheer inability to meet the demand. Poverty, in short, now ceases to be a crime in any circumstances.

Another act safeguards the sale of drugs. Hitherto it has been possible to buy over the counter all any drug-store preparations that administered in excess, will cause death. Many of these, especially those to quiet the nerves and induce sleep, are used beneficially by large numbers of people.

A new committee, on the lines of the General Medical Council, is now to be organized to control pharmacists. It will have power to lay down poison rules, regulate the sale of poisons and dispense vendors who ignore its edicts. It is expected that many drugs now freely sold will hereafter be obtainable only by doctor's prescriptions.

Inventions that prove useful in the operation of motor cars in relation to other traffic sooner or later become compulsory adjuncts thereof. Thus 1936 cars must now be fitted with stoplights and direction indicators, the latter to be amber-colored pointers at least six inches long.

From India to amber-colored pointers—the Parliament of Great Britain has caused comparisons to be made between the United States and Great Britain, and between Great Britain and other countries, in respect of crimes of violence.

It is an outstanding fact that life is reasonably safe in this country and getting safer. There are more murders in one year in the United States than in ten years in England and Wales.

In the years 1878-88 the average for the latter was 1788 per annum. In 1931 only 89 murders were reported, 40 of the murderers commencing outside and of the others only one escaping arrest. The annual average before the war was 152.

On the other hand, offences against property have increased alarmingly. The pre-war average of 10,011 burglaries, house-breakings and shop-breakings increased to 35,753 in 1932, and in 1933 charges of obtaining money under false pretences had almost exactly tripled. Offences against morality, too, have shown a steady and continuous increase which has been very properly described as disturbing.

In France about twice as many murders are committed but not many more than half the number of robberies. Germany ranks between the two for murders but its robberies over a period of years were twice as numerous as those recorded in England and Wales.

In Spain and Hungary the homicide totals are much heavier but property is comparatively safe. Turning again to the United States it should be pointed out that the southern States contribute greatly to the high murder rate there. Vermont, Idaho and Montana claim to be completely free from this crime and also to be free from so numerous as those records in England and Wales.

Canada's Only Flying Priest

Out of the far north to Toronto came Father J. M. Couture, "flying priest of the north," to get his pilot's license and a larger sized airplane. Father Couture, since he started using airplanes instead of canoes and dog teams to cover his 200,000 square miles of "parish," has flown some 50,000 miles on missions of mercy, religion and rescue. Father Couture is shown above standing by his plane.

Insurance and part for old-age pension insurance. Old-age pensions under this scheme, $2.50 a week, are payable when the recipient reaches the age of 65 without reference to any other means or earnings he may enjoy.

THE year 1936 may be remembered for, before everything else, very properly described as disturbing. In France about twice as many murders are committed but not many more than half the number of robberies. Germany ranks between the two for murders but its robberies over a period of years were twice as numerous as those recorded in England and Wales.

Other musical works will help to keep the season active. Already there is considerable activity among the amateurs regarding the next provincial musical festival, to be held this year at Calgary. Many have commenced work on the test pieces and will gear up to the tests themselves with a concentrated study.

W. G. Strachan, popular city pianist and business man expects to visit the Pacific coast toward the end of this month.

Mrs. C. Ward Is Again Acclaimed. PERRYVALE, Jan. 18.—Mrs. Charlotte Ward was re-elected by acclamation to the trusteeship of Lewiston School district at the annual meeting held last Saturday. Other trustees are Antonio Aloisio, Charles, and Fred Rehn.

A family of settlers from the Camrose district has taken over the late Sam Chioda's place. There are several children of school age, which will result in taxing the school here to capacity.

Luther Burbank grew more than 400 kinds of cherries on one tree.

MAJOR AND MINOR NOTES

Under the leadership of D. W. Vaughan, the Orpheus Male Chorus gave a splendid concert at St. Mark's parish hall on Friday evening, signifying an event of major importance that does not often come to the outlying sections of the city. Mr. Vaughan and his singers presented a splendid program which was greatly enjoyed by all who attended. Artists contributing were David Jones, tenor; Lucius H. B. Pitter, E. H. Collins and Frank H. Stone.

With the riot court now in the past tense, the musical season which seems to have so recently begun, is almost at an end, so far as the visiting artists are concerned. B. J. V. and J. J. J. are the last of the season. Many local musical activities are scheduled. Regular meetings of the Women's Musical club will be held and preparations are proceeding for the presentation of Verdi's "Il Trovatore" by the Edmonton Civic Operatic Society.

SEA SERPENTS

ARE CREATURES OF ANCIENT LINEAGE! SEA LORE IS RICH WITH WILD TALES OF THESE DREADFUL, SMOKE-BREATHING BEASTS, BUT THE ONLY REAL SEA SERPENT IS A SMALL, VENOMOUS SNAKE, FOUND IN TROPICAL WATERS OF THE WORLD.

OTHER ANIMALS HAVE DECEIVED HONEST MEN INTO BELIEVING IN SEA SERPENTS! THE SLEEK HEAD OF A SEAL, RAISED AT A DISTANCE, APPEARS DECIDEDLY SNAKE-LIKE.

A SCHOOL OF PORPOISES, LEAPING THROUGH THE WATER, HAS ALL THE APPEARANCES OF A HUGE, UNDULATING CREATURE OF GIGANTIC PROPORTIONS.

THE GIANT SQUID, WHICH REACHES A LENGTH OF FIFTY FEET, HAS BEEN THE CAUSE OF MANY SEA SERPENT YARNS.

THE GREAT OAR-FISH, WITH ITS SCARLET FINS, MAKES EVEN A SKEPTIC BELIEVE IN DRAGONS OF THE SEA.

MANY MODERN SEA SERPENT APPEARANCES ARE "HOAXES," PROMOTED BY THE OWNERS OF SEA SIDE RESORTS.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

By Blosser

WELL, WE CAN'T SIT AROUND AND WAIT TO SEE IF THAT PIGEON CARRIED OUR SOS WHERE IT'LL DO US SOME GOOD!

LOOKS AS IF WE'RE HERE FOR A LONG TIME.

WE'LL HAVE TO MAKE THE BEST OF IT, I GUESS! YOU KNOW THE OLD SAYING: WHEN IN ROME, BE A ROMAN! CANDLE!

THAT GIVES ME AN IDEA... A SIGNAL FIRE!

GOOD IDEA... SOMEONE'S BOUND TO SEE THE SMOKE! LET'S GATHER A LOT OF WOOD!

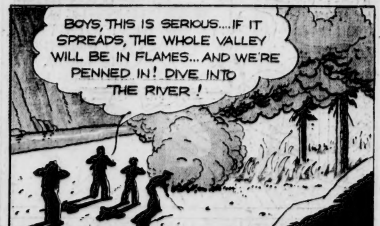

WE CAN'T STAY HERE... THE SMOKE WILL SUFFOCATE US IF WE.....

GRAB THE OLD MAN... HE'S GOING UNDER!

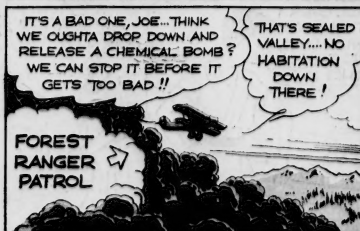

AFTER IT GETS A GOOD START, WE'LL PUT GREEN STUFF ON, TO MAKE IT SMOKE!

LOOK OUT... THAT DRY BRUSH IS CATCHING ON FIRE... IT'S DRY AS KINDER!

BOYS, THIS IS SERIOUS... IF IT SPREADS, THE WHOLE VALLEY WILL BE IN FLAMES... AND WE'RE PENNED IN! DIVE INTO THE RIVER!

IT'S A BAD ONE, JOE... THINK WE OUGHTA DROP DOWN AND RELEASE A CHEMICAL BOMB? WE CAN STOP IT BEFORE IT GETS TOO BAD!!

THAT'S SEALED VALLEY... NO HABITATION DOWN THERE!

THOSE ROCK CLIFFS WILL KEEP IT FROM SPREADING... NO USE WASTING VALUABLE CHEMICAL BOMBS! PUSH ON!!
